

Animal Health Advisory Form

This signed form, signed Animal Behavior Form, and Mental Health Form, must be submitted to Alaska Airlines at least 48 hours prior to travel.

The Safety of our guests, employees, and animals traveling with us is our top priority.

Alaska Airlines strongly recommends I travel with a current veterinary health certificate for my emotional support animal for the following reasons (all boxes must be checked):

- If any of the following occur: if my animal is observed behaving inappropriately, Alaska Airlines is unable to process my Emotional Support Animal documentation, or I don't submit the required documentation at least 48 hours prior to travel, my animal will be unable to travel as an Emotional Support Animal and Alaska Airlines' pet policy and fees would apply, if I still want to travel.
- I understand that if my animal is unable to travel as an Emotional Support Animal, Alaska Airlines pet policy requires me to present a current veterinary health form dated within 10 days of originating travel or within 30 days of return travel on the same ticket to airport staff, as a condition of travel, and failure to have valid veterinary documentation may result in denial of travel.
- I understand that the State of Hawaii, foreign countries, and inbound international travel to the United States has specific pet travel requirements and that Alaska Airlines' pet policy has requirements, including but not limited to pet carrier size limitations, and breed restrictions.
